

Ordo socialis is an academic association which conveys Christian Social Teaching to the public in Germany and worldwide. It is an academic affiliate of BKU (Association of Catholic Entrepreneurs)

General Meeting

On 5th September the general meeting of Ordo socialis was held in Cologne. The in the meantime 70 members were invited to vote on the election of the Executive committee and on modifications of the articles of association. The president, Cornelius G. Fetsch, and the vice-president, Dr. Josef Thesing, were confirmed in their offices.

In future Ordo socialis intends to become better known also in Germany. For this purpose new authors with actual German contributions have been placed on the website. A new flyer shall rouse interest in Ordo socialis the aim of which, the globalisation of values, is more actual then ever.
